Survey Specifications

- With funding from the United States Agency for International Development, the International Republican Institute conducted a national survey of adult Egyptians (18+ years) from April 14-27, 2011.
- Data was collected in the field by an international survey research firm operating in Egypt, under the supervision of David Williams from Williams and Associates of Salem, Massachusetts.
- Interviews were collected using the in-person, face-to-face methodology by trained professional interviewers using a multi-stage stratification proportionate to population sample distribution, with random selection of households and respondents using the Kish method.
- Stratification is based on population distribution according to the latest census.
- A total of 1,200 interviews were completed yielding an overall margin of error of  $\pm 2.78$  percent at the midrange of the 95 percent confidence level.
- The geographic and demographic distributions conform to the most recent generally accepted official statistics available (see slide three for demographics).
- The information in this report has been compiled in accordance with international standards for market and social research methodologies.
- Figures in charts and tables may not sum to 100 percent due to rounding.
